Berkshire Museum presents Cuba at the Turning Point
Photographer Sally Eagle shares compelling images of her trip to Cuba

[PITTSFIELD, MA] — On Saturday, April 18, at 10:30 a.m. at Berkshire Museum, join photographer Sally Eagle for Cuba at the Turning Point, an illustrated talk on her recent trip to the Caribbean island. The talk is included with regular Museum admission but seating is limited so reservations are requested by calling 413.443.7171 ext. 360. Unclaimed reservations will be released 5 minutes before the start of the lecture and filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

Award-winning Berkshire-based photographer Sally Eagle spent three weeks traveling around Cuba in December 2014, photographing the everyday lives of Cubans in cities like Havana and Santiago de Cuba and in smaller villages like Baracoa and Remedios. She will present a visual journey of the evolution of politics, architecture, culture and society in a fascinating country that is going through yet another historic transition.

Sally Eagle and her husband Dan Mead have been traveling the world and taking extraordinary photographs since the late 1970s. They have a store of anecdotal tales of their extensive travels, and when accompanied by their magnificent photographs, they provide a unique perspective for those curious about the world around them. Based in Great Barrington, their mission is to provide high-impact visual images of wildlife, landscapes, and cultures around the world to students throughout the Northeast. They exhibit their images to encourage a dialogue, whether about photography, the environment, or cultures around the globe. For more information on their work, visit www.meadeaglephotos.com
